The Virtues and Uses of the Queen of Hungary's Water.

THe Queen of Hungary's Water, being of a hot Nature, and very subtle; it strengthens the Heart, Brains and Stomach, digests all manner of Crudities, dissolves Phlegm, and repairs the Dissipations of the Spirits; in so much that one may use it for all the Indispositions of the Brains and Stomach, which may proceed from Colds, and to expel Winds and Cholicks.

To use it rightly, you must mingle half a Spoonful (more or less, having respect to the Age or indisposition of the Party that is to take it) either in a little Broth, or some other Liquor, for to temper its Virtues: it may be taken several days together, or else two or three times a week.

One may also use it outwardly, for all manner of pains in what part of the Body soever; for those that are troubled with a weakness in their Sinews, to fortifie the Joynts; for the Palsie, Gout, Burnings, Contusions, and in the decline of an Erezipelus, or Saint Anthony's Fire. It must be used by fomenting and bathing the parts affected, warming it a little if desired. For a weakness of Sight, and the Headach, you must rub the Forehead and the Eyes. It is also very good for Deafness, in dropping it into the Ear, and stopping it with a little Wool. The Ladies use it for their Faces, it makes the skin smooth, and a fair Complexion, by taking away Scurfs or Witherness; you must wash your self twice or thrice a week by mingling it with a little Spring-water, especially those that are of a swarthy Complexion.

Amongst the several Distillers of this Water in Montpellier, where by the confession of all Men it is best prepared, James Puech Apothecary and Perfumer dwelling in the said City, doth make it with all the exactness and care imaginable; and is sold here in London by his Son David Puech, living in oxinden Street between Leicesterfield and Haymarket at the Sign of the true Perfumer of Montpellier.
